

The drawback of jffs is the fact it doesn't work on some firmwares and it is rather small.

What's this mean? Does this mean some versions of DD-WRT, or just other firmwares in general? DD-WRT is the first firmware I came across with Samba support built in... anyway, this is the DD-WRT wiki, afterall --Sveasoft 01:56, 25 May 2005 (CEST)

Executing serveral scripts?

In the shell script method section, there's a rather odd paragraph (where at first it says the method below doesn't work, and then it says it "has been repaired, the script works now."). Apart from that being terrible WIKI-wise, I can't see how the section is supposed to have been repaired. I only get one startup script executed, the way it's described here (and on the Script Execution Page). Could somebody with the appropriate knowledge clean this up? Lodp 13:36, 20 January 2008 (CET)

Introduction Needs more Substance

If I knew what this article wanted to achieve and knew more about startup scripts I would but don't want to mess with anything--whiteboy 04:03, 2 Oct 2006 (CEST)